Tasting Notes: The dark and concentrated magenta color immediately draws you in; bramble fruit, cedar, and rosemary aromas are practically leaping out of the glass. Once on the palate, there is a concentration of black cherry, allspice, and dark chocolate flavors. This wine's full tannins are supported by softer acidity to create a pleasant experience from start to finish.

96 points Wine Enthusiast:

"This bold and delicious bottling begins with ripe cherry and berry aromas that are enhanced by touches of wood and stony earth. The palate is rich and dynamic, offering flavors of black cherry, cola milkshake, violet and lavender that lead into a black pepper finish."

94 points Jeb Dunnuck:

"Smoky, gamey red and black fruits, peppery herbs, violets, and leather are just some of the nuances in the 2022 Pinot Noir John Sebastiano Vineyard, a more masculine, medium-bodied, complex, Burgundian styled Pinot Noir. As with the Peake Ranch release, it's going to benefit from a year or so in bottle and drink nicely through 2034."
